Final Project Proposition
CS4320
Brevin Kunde

The project that I plant on completing is a march madness bracket predictor. At a lower level the project will predict an outcome between two teams. This will extend beyond the decision tree classifier by using a random forest. Kaggle contains many files for college basketball data and I have begun sorting through the many data files to find features to use in this assignment.